Gains in Assets, Accounts, Indicate Individuals Saving

The annual report as released by Mr. Peacock, secretary, Fairport Savings & Loan Association shows substantial gains in both assets and surplus accounts. Assets now stand at $2,154,295.53 while general reserves and undivided profits total $206,606.03 Dividends paid out to savers in 1954 totaled $43,326.14.

Such gains, Mr. Peacock said were of "great significance" since they came at a time of moderate business decline and some unemployment. This would seem to indicate, he said that the people of Fairport have realized the importance of saving a portion of their income each year for things they wish to buy in the future, as well as financial security.

Home building in the coming year, Mr. Peacock said, would most likely equal this year's level of between 1.1 million and 1.2 million units. This is a creditable record, he said, in that 1954 was the second biggest home building year in the country's history. Demand for new homes continued strong, he commented, with demand greatest for larger, well designed, well equipped and well-located homes.

Prices of most new homes should remain stable, "with some improvement in quality" likely. In 1955 the home buyer should be able to get more house for the same amount of money than in 1954, he concluded.

INSURANCE COUNSEL
Counseling you on all your insurance problems is a service we as Lumbermens agents provide to prevent serious gaps in your program, and also to make sure you're not paying for unnecessary overlaps in protection.
In addition, we want to:
• make sure you understand what you've purchased.
• help lower your insurance cost.
• advise you promptly on how new developments in the business affect your protection.
• be available whenever you need us.
If you're not taking advantage of this valuable counsel now, why don't you consider letting us handle your complete program? You may realize a substantial saving, not only because we'll be handling your complete program, but because you'll have your insurance with dividend paying companies.
As local businessmen, we have a personal and continuing interest in your future.
